=====

Futures trade volume slowed Tuesday as Live Cattle closed lower for the second day after Friday's new contract highs were made. Like Monday it was buyers taking profits. Since September 5th after coming back from Labor Day, Live Cattle moved steeply higher. On the December 2023 Live Cattle contract from a low of $254.75 and a close the day at $256.20 to Friday, September 15th the contract gained $11.92 from each day's closing prices. It is a big move in 9 trading days, over a quarter of a million dollars on 50 contracts. Speculators taking profits is likely ahead of Friday's Cattle on Feed Report. Boxed beef has been falling. On September 1st Choice beef was at $314.49 and Select was $290.29. Now Choice is $302.12 and Select is $281.78.

Boxed beef prices fell again on Tuesday. Packers have to take lower prices to move it and they are moving more loads on the daily market. They have lost their hold of the beef market that forced sellers to pay up into Labor Day which is commonplace after Labor Day and now it is also the slow month for consumers buying beef in September when summer grilling slows and the three big get together during the summer are long gone.

For many low to middle income consumers beef prices are too high and concerns about a recession in 2024 is a worry.

Lean hog trade volume was light Monday and again on Tuesday. Spec traders, similar to the trading on Monday were unwinding bear spreads from December 2023 on out. October Lean Hogs settled at $84.85 as futures moves nearer to the latest index at $86.81. Pork prices have moved up over the past two weeks but it appears with the 5 day carcass average at $99.54, it has hit a resistance around $100 level as it did this summer.

Traders are looking at lean hogs from both sides. Pork is much cheaper than beef which is good news for pork, However, US hog slaughter is up and exports while still strong for 2023 have been slowing because of global competition.

=====

Packers will try to push more hogs to slaughter especially as more pork isn't putting price pressure on the daily pork market. Fixed expenses per hog go down with more hogs killed.
